

INTERNATIONAL AGRICULTURAL STRUCTURES AND IRRIGATION CONGRESS AND WORKSHOP

12-15 May 2022, Dicle University, Diyarbakir, Turkey

Dear Colleagues,

"International Agricultural Structures and Irrigation Congress and Workshop, which was postponed twice due to the Covid-19 pandemic in the world, will be held face to face on 12-15 May 2022, in Dicle University, Diyarbakir, Turkey.

The fact that the Congress and Workshop will be held in Diyarbakir, one of the largest cities in Turkey, which has hosted 33 different civilizations in history and stood out with its history, culture, agricultural irrigation, faith and gastronomy tourism, also increases the importance of this event. All detailed information can be found on the congress website (www.icasi2021.org).

The Congress and Workshop covers especially agricultural irrigation, water management, drought, climate change, irrigation-environment relationship, wastewater use, remote sensing in agricultural irrigation and smart systems including all other related issues. This international event can be attended with or without presentation. The abstract submission deadline is 11 February 2022 for those who want to participate with a paper.

In addition, considerable advantages and some facilities will be provided to the students and young colleagues. All details and explanations are on the congress website. Some distinguished national and international scientists in their fields will participate.

We will be happy to welcome you in our historical and modern city of Diyarbakir, the pearl of the Southeast of Turkey.

Regards,

Oner CETIN
